
Online Booty Call

Posted by robben - 2008/04/09 13:21

With fast talk and even faster action, it's in your best interest to bring your online booty call skills up to par with the adult dating game.

If you are on the prowl, it can be difficult to determine who is ready for action or whose actions can't back up their risqué words. Adult dating sites allow for you to satisfy your sexual fantasies by hooking up with like-minded individuals online, but there are several things that you should know if you want to succeed in mastering the online booty call.

Is the action for real?

There is a certain sense of disappointment on adult dating sites. A potential match might lead you to believe that the night contains a great deal of fun and excitement, and you wind up alone and cold because he or she never showed up to seal the deal.

How can you determine if the person you are talking to online is for real? There should be some sense of credibility, even if you're both talking about a one night stand or a casual relationship. You should be comfortable that the person is genuine, and that he or she is sincerely interested in having a good impromptu time with you.

Ask yourself the following questions:

Did the person provide real pictures?

Is the person able to answer relevant questions about your general area?

Is the person willing to talk on the phone about a potential meeting?

If you answered no to any of the above questions, you might be looking at a major scam of disappointment - a person who is all talk and no action.

Calling all swingers!

Adult dating sites boost sexual Online Booty Call personalities of all types, including swingers. Consider casually approach the subject of swingers in your conversation, just to get a feel for what you may expect. If you like the idea of swinging, then adult dating could open the doors to your sexual fantasies. Don't expect that you are going to find Mr. or Ms. Right if you are browsing away on an adult dating site, but you may run into your sexual dreams come true.

Cut to the chase

If you're seriously looking for booty call, then it's probably best not to beat around the bush about it. Like-minded individuals will want to do the deed as eagerly as you. If you present the idea to someone on an adult dating site, and it is not welcomed, just try and try again. Consider the fact that all users won't be interested in the same sexual activities as you or may not want to move as quickly as you do.

Explore a variety of possibilities. You might have to frequent different sites in order to find individuals who have similar interests and desires. Stay away from those sites that trash talk swingers, advertise wedding dresses, or have too many pictures of people sitting down to a Online Booty Call candlelit dinner. Eventually, you'll find a site that caters to your sexual wants and needs - allowing you to reap the rewards of mastering the online booty call.

Aelicia Anderson has been involved with adult dating sites for over ten years and is widely considered an expert in the industry. When not writing her popular dating advice column Aelicia can often be found hanging in her favourite swingers chat.

=====